JANUARY 2010

EDITION #57

A NEW DECADE

Tim Bradley, Assistant State Fire Marshal

A tradition that many experience at New Year is to sing the song "Auld Lang Syne". If you're like me you had no idea as to the reasons behind the phrase or the song symbolically sung as the clock strikes midnight on January 1 of every year. It occurred to me that I should investigate its' origins, and as a matter of fact, I wasn't even spelling it right. "Auld Lang Syne" was a poem written by Scottish writer Robert Burns in 1788. The poem turned into song lyrics to the tune of a traditional folk song and many believe that the Burns poem had portions that were similar to that of James Watson's "Old Long Syne" which was printed in 1711. There is also a version of this song sung in pubs and bars across the British Isles as well as the United States. The meaning of "Auld Lang Syne" is old long since or for old time's sake. This means that it is meant to reminisce about times and occurrences of the past, or to reflect upon them. It has come to be associated with the excitement of starting a new and fresh year. Here is a complete English translation of Auld Lang Syne.

Should old acquaintance be forgot, and never brought to mind?

Should old acquaintance be forgot, and old times since?

CHORUS: For auld lang syne, my dear, for auld lang syne,
We'll take a cup of kindness yet, for auld lang syne.

And surely you'll buy your pint cup ! And surely I'll buy mine !

And we'll take a cup o' kindness yet, for auld lang syne.

We two have run about the slopes, and picked the daisies fine;

But we've wandered many a weary foot, since auld lang syne.

We two have paddled in the stream, from morning sun till dine;

But seas between us broad, have roared since auld lang syne.

And there's a hand my trusty friend ! And give us a hand o' thine !

And we'll take a right good-will draught, for auld lang syne.

This year New Years Day was also New Decade Day and I had to reflect, not only had the year flew by, but so had the decade. When I was a kid I remember thinking by 2000 we would all be flying around in George Jetson cars that we would pack in a suitcase when we arrived at work. I guess I'll just have to be appropriately amazed that even though we're not flying our cars around, my daughters can sit on the couch and send text messages to all their friends on New Years Eve rather than calling them. As we start the second decade of the 21st century it's fun to reflect on all the new technology and the advantages it gives business in a global market, but in reality, it's still quality work and customer service that makes the difference. Having served on the Board for over a decade I'm constantly appreciative of the quality of licensees we have in the electrical industry, and the quality of work they do everyday. When you think of the advances in the use of electricity, how common it is everywhere, it's amazing that so much energy is controlled with so little accidents. That is a tribute to pioneers in the industry, code makers, and each of you who put so much detail for safety in your work. As we move forward into the next ten years I'm sure each of you will work together with your Board, as you have in the past, to keep the quality of our industry at the higher level.

Happy New Year from each of your Board members and Staff at the NC Board of Examiners of Electrical Contractors.

21 NCAC 18B .0202 EXPERIENCE

(a) Primary. As used in this Chapter, primary experience means working experience gained by the applicant while engaged directly in the installation of electrical wiring and equipment governed by the National Electrical Code or work activities directly related thereto. Examples of the capacity in which a person may work in gaining primary experience and the percentages for creditable primary experience are as follows:

	Percentage
(1) journeyman electrician or electrician mechanic, both meaning the same;	100
(2) electrical foreman;	100
(3) electrical general foreman;	100
(4) electrical superintendent;	100
(5) electrical general superintendent;	100
(6) estimator for licensed electrical contractor;	100
(7) electrical inspector recognized as such by the State Department of Insurance;	100
(8) time spent by a professional engineer who is responsible for follow-up project supervision, beyond the point of delivery, in electrical engineering design, or consulting;	100
(9) full-time instructor teaching National Electrical Code, NFPA 72 and related electrical courses at a college, university, community college, technical institute, high school or vocational school;	50
(10) maintenance journeyman electrician or electrician mechanic employed in a full-time electrical maintenance department;	100

(11)	time actually spent in electrical maintenance by a maintenance journeyman electrician or electrician mechanic regularly employed in other than a full-time electrical maintenance department;	100
(12)	military person holding an electrician rating or rank of at least E-4 who is engaged in land based electrical installations similar or equivalent to work performed by an electrical contractor;	100
(13)	time actually spent in part-time or incidental work in any primary experience category;	100
(14)	time actually spent installing or maintaining fire alarm/low voltage systems;	100
(15)	time as a holder of NICET certification on NFPA 72 Level I, II or III;	50
(16)	time as a holder of NICET certification on NFPA 72 Level IV.	100

In calculating accumulative primary experience, a total of 2,000 hours shall equal one creditable year. The total number of creditable years shall be calculated by dividing the total hours of primary experience by 2,000. Example: Applicant has worked in primary capacity for a total of 7,200 hours of primary experience.

$$\frac{7,200}{2,000} = 3.6 \text{ years creditable primary work experience}$$

(b) Secondary. As used in this Chapter, secondary experience means working experience gained while engaged in work or training that is related to the installation of electrical wiring and equipment governed by the National Electrical Code. Examples of the type of work or training in which a person may engage to gain creditable secondary experience and the percentages for creditable secondary experience are as follows:

	Percentage
(1) apprentice electrician training in an apprentice program approved by the North Carolina Department of Labor;	100
(2) time spent as an apprentice electrician or helper other than as described in Subparagraph (1) and (3) of this Paragraph;	80
(3) time actually spent in electrical maintenance by a maintenance apprentice or electrician helper regularly employed in other than a full-time electrical maintenance department;	80
(4) student satisfactorily completing National Electrical Code and related electrical courses at a college, university, community college, technical institute, high school or vocational school;	50
(5) time spent by a professional engineer who is not responsible for follow-up project supervision, beyond the point of delivery, in electrical engineering, design, or consulting;	50
(6) electrical construction design under the supervision of a professional engineer;	50
(7) sales representative for an electrical wholesaler, distributor, or manufacturer;	20
(8) appliance service and repair;	20
(9) electric utility lineman; and	10
(10) electric utility serviceman.	20

In calculating cumulative secondary experience, a total of 2,000 hours shall equal one creditable year. The total number of creditable years shall be calculated by applying the percentage for creditable secondary experience and dividing the remainder hours by 2,000. Example: Applicant has 1,000 hours of work experience as a helper or regular apprentice and 2,200 hours of experience while enrolled in an approved apprentice training program: 1,000 hours at 80 percent = 800 hours secondary experience; 2,200 hours at 100 percent = 2,200 hours secondary experience;

$$\frac{800 + 2,200}{2,000} = 1.5 \text{ years creditable secondary experience.}$$

(c) Other Experience. The Board shall approve other experience that it finds to be equivalent or similar to the primary or secondary experience defined in this Rule.

SECTION .0800 - SPECIAL RESTRICTED LICENSES

21 NCAC 18B .0801 GENERAL PROVISIONS

(a) Types. A special restricted electrical contracting license classification is a classification established pursuant to G.S. 87-43.3 or by G.S. 87-43.4. Its purpose is to license persons, partnerships, firms, or corporations to engage or offer to engage in only a limited phase of electrical contracting work. Each special restricted license classification is separate from all other special restricted and regular license classifications. The General Assembly created the special restricted single family dwelling electrical contractor license in G.S. 87-43.4. Pursuant to G.S. 87-43.3, the Board has established the following special restricted electrical contracting licenses:

- (1) fire alarm/low voltage wiring license (SP-FA/LV);
- (2) elevator license (SP-EL);
- (3) plumbing, heating, and air conditioning license (SP-PH);
- (4) groundwater pump license (SP-WP);
- (5) electric sign license (SP-ES); and
- (6) swimming pool license (SP-SP).

(b) Limited Scope. A special restricted contracting license does not authorize the licensee to engage or offer to engage in the business of electrical contracting in general. It authorizes the licensee to engage or offer to engage only in the limited phase of electrical contracting described in the Rule in this Section that specifies the scope of the applicable special restricted license.

(c) No Project Value Limit. The limitations concerning the dollar value of projects that may be undertaken by a limited or an intermediate licensee do not apply to special restricted licensees. Thus, the holder of a special restricted license may engage or offer to engage in any project authorized by the license regardless of the dollar value of the project.

(d) Effect of Regular License. A licensee in the regular license classifications, whether limited, intermediate or unlimited, is qualified to engage or offer to engage in any activity authorized by a special restricted license, subject to the project value limitations contained in G.S. 87-43.3, and does not have to obtain a special restricted license.

21 NCAC 18B .0804 SCOPE OF SP-FA/LV LICENSE

(a) Definition. As used in this Chapter, fire alarm, burglar alarm and low voltage wiring systems are defined as:

- (1) wiring systems of 50 volts or less and control circuits directly associated therewith;
- (2) wiring systems that have a voltage in excess of 50 volts and consist solely of power limited circuits meeting the definition of a Class II or Class III wiring system in the National Electrical Code;
- (3) line voltage wiring that has a voltage not in excess of 300 volts to ground and is installed from the load-side terminals of a disconnecting means or from a junction box, either of which has been installed by others, for the specific purpose of supplying the low voltage wiring system involved. Some low voltage wiring systems that meet this definition are exempt under Rule .0805;
- (4) interconnected components wired to a common control panel either as a standalone fire alarm system or as part of a combination burglar/fire system to monitor and annunciate the status of evidence of flame, heat, smoke or water flow within a building or structure in accordance with the requirements of the N.C. State Building Code and NFPA 72; or
- (5) alarm systems or devices used to detect burglary or theft as defined in G.S. 74D-2(a).

(b) Scope. A special restricted fire alarm/low voltage electrical contracting license authorizes the licensee to install, maintain, or repair only low voltage wiring and directly related wiring. Wiring is directly related if it:

- (1) originates at the load-side terminals of a disconnecting means or junction box that:
 - (A) has been installed, complete with line-side connections, by others for the purpose of supplying the low voltage wiring system involved; and
 - (B) is permanently and legibly marked to identify the low voltage wiring system supplied; and
- (2) is not installed in a location considered as hazardous under the National Electrical Code.

21 NCAC 18B .0805 EXEMPTION OF CERTAIN LOW VOLTAGE WIRING SYSTEMS

Exemption. Except a fire alarm, burglar alarm or low voltage wiring system as defined in Rule .0804, the installation, maintenance, or repair of low voltage wiring systems may be performed by those not licensed by the Board if all of the following conditions are met:

- (1) the system is not required by the N.C. State Building Code;
- (2) the low voltage control circuit and power supply is a Class II or Class III system as defined in the National Electrical Code other than that described in Rule .0804;
- (3) the system operates at a voltage not in excess of 50 volts or meets the provisions for sound-recording and similar equipment in the National Electrical Code;
- (4) no part of the system is installed in an area considered as hazardous under the National Electrical Code;
- (5) the system is current limited or protected by a circuit breaker, fuse, or other current limiting device; and
- (6) a failure in the system would not, in the opinion of the electrical inspector having jurisdiction, create a shock or fire hazard to persons or property.

(a) Every listed qualified individual, including listed qualified individuals pursuant to G.S. 87-50, shall complete continuing education for each annual license period to renew the license on which the qualified individual is currently listed, for the next annual license period, except as follows:

- (1) individuals becoming qualified by examination during the 12 month period immediately preceding the license renewal date;
- (2) qualified individuals unable to fulfill the required number of hours as the result of illness as certified in writing by the attending physician; or
- (3) persons presenting approved courses of continuing education.

(b) The number of required contact hours for every listed qualified individual shall be determined by the classification of license on which the qualified individual is currently listed as follows:

- (1) qualified individuals currently listed on a license in the limited, intermediate, unlimited and special restricted single family dwelling classifications shall complete at least eight hours of approved continuing education for license renewal, and

(c) The Board, pursuant to Rules .1102 and .1103 of the Section, approves courses. Because of differences in the electrical contracting industry and individual needs of listed qualified individuals, each qualified individual must exercise judgment in selecting courses for which continuing education is claimed and in choosing only those courses that will advance the individual's knowledge.

(d) Course sponsors may be colleges or universities, community colleges, trade associations, providers of self-study programs, employers, third party professional examination companies, private instructors and the like.

- (e) North Carolina listed qualified individuals residing within the state must obtain the required continuing education hours by taking a course provided by an approved sponsor.
- (f) North Carolina listed qualified individuals residing outside of North Carolina, including listed qualified individuals pursuant to G.S. 87-50, may obtain credit for courses offered in North Carolina. FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS - AMENDED BOARD RULES

SPECIAL RESTRICTED FIRE ALARM/LOW VOLTAGE (FA/LV) LICENSE CLASSIFICATION

1. How will the amended rules change the present (SP-LV) license classification?

The present Special Restricted Low Voltage (SP-LV) license classification was changed to Special Restricted Fire Alarm/Low Voltage (SP-FA/LV) license classification. The name change will clarify the scope of electrical work covered by this classification. The electrical work definitions have been expanded and include fire alarm, burglar alarm and low voltage wiring systems.

2. Will my current SP-LV license change to the new title SP-FA/LV upon renewal after January 1, 2010?

Yes. The new title will appear as (License #)-SP-FA/LV.

3. I currently hold an Unlimited license and install fire alarm systems. Will the new rules change my way of making a living?

No. Licensees in the Unlimited, Intermediate, Limited and SP-FA/LV are allowed to engage or offer to engage in fire alarm systems work. Additionally, the SP-SFD (Special Restricted Single Family Dwelling) license classification is permitted to perform this work for single family residential dwellings.
